

Young leaders charging to meet the high-priority needs of Palmetto Health Cancer Centers.

Mary Ellen and Brian Barnwell

Brian and I choose to give because cancer has directly affected our lives. I lost my mother to ovarian cancer the summer of 2012. She was only 61. My mother was treated in Atlanta where she lived. She received wonderful care from all clinicians involved.

Filled with gratitude for her care, I felt compelled to assist the cancer community here in Columbia, the city I call home. We decided to direct our philanthropic dollars to The Cavalry. This fund allows all of our fundraising dollars to be directed to the immediate needs of our cancer centers right here in the Midlands.

Cancer may have taken my mother but cancer is limited. It cannot take away hope, it cannot take away memories, and it cannot suppress courage. Please join Brian and I in the fight against cancer today and consider joining The Cavalry.
